

Greater Utica Chamber Of Commerce Small Business Council Partners Presents

Surviving the Ever-Changing World of Employee Benefits & Labor Laws

What Growing Businesses & Non-Profit Organizations Need to Know

PRESENTERS:

Sharon A. McAuliffe, Esq.
Bousquet Holstein PLLC

Sharon is a member of the firm and serves on its Board of Managers. Her areas of practice include employee benefits, mergers and acquisitions, tax planning and advocacy, and trusts and estates.

Sharon's experience includes advising clients with regard to the establishment, administration, and termination of qualified retirement plans, cafeteria plans, and other fringe benefit plans, and representing clients in connection with Internal Revenue Service, Pension Benefit and Guaranty Corporation, and Department of Labor matters. She has also acted as co-counsel on ERISA litigation matters.

John L. Valentino, Esq.
Bousquet Holstein PLLC

John is a member of the firm and serves on its Board of Managers. He practices in the areas of litigation, employment and discrimination, business transactions, appellate law, and professional practices.

John represents employers, executives and other professionals in federal and state court litigation over business and commercial matters, and over claims such as breach of employment contracts, shareholder disputes, retaliation, and discrimination, non-compete agreements, sexual harassment, and a variety of other business, labor and employment-related legal claims. He has provided representation before various federal and state agencies, including the New York State Division of Human Rights, the Department of Labor, the Unemployment Insurance Appeal Board and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. John advises employers preparing and implementing employment policies regarding sexual harassment, drug testing, and employment termination and employment references.
